

About Caitlin

Caitlin Henderson is a small-town girl from Kansas who fell in love with a farmer. She and her husband have three kids who keep her on her toes and clinging to coffee. Caitlin is an author, writer, and speaker who is passionate about sharing the good news of Jesus and writing about her family's life full of grace, craziness, love, dirt, and cows. Her book Faith, Farming, and Family: Cultivating Hope and Harvesting Joy Wherever You Are is set to release in October 2020 with Waterbrook Publishing. The Henderson family lives on a grain-and-cattle farm in south-central Kansas.

